Short Rally Speech: Protection for Women

Respected teachers and dear friends,

Today we are here to raise our voices for an important cause — the protection and safety of women.

Women are the backbone of our society. They are mothers, daughters, sisters, students, and leaders. Yet many women face violence, discrimination, and fear in their daily lives. This must change.

A safe society is one where women can study, work, travel, and live freely without fear. Protection of women is not only the duty of the government or police, but the responsibility of every citizen.

We must learn to respect women, stand against injustice, and speak up when something is wrong. True strength lies in kindness, equality, and respect.

Through this rally, we promise to support women, protect their rights, and help build a safer and better future for all.

Respect women. Protect women. Empower women.

Thank you.
